

Weekly Update #1

The focus of this week was in continuing the Udemy course to learn more of the intricacies of Flutter to design the "KnowMixer" application. Brainstorming for the application's design has begun, will be further developed in the coming week. Udemy course is expected to be completed upon Week 4, in order to begin implementing the application design. Once the initial prototype is completed, additional features previously discussed will be implemented.

In addition to working on the application, the Project Proposal was completed this week.